LOCAL AND PERSONAL

GOOD NEWS FOR HONDO.

As we are on the last lap of going to press, Capt. R. W. Speece brings us the good news that as project supervisor for the W. P. A., he began Monday on the preliminaries of the city paving project which has been pending for some time. The plan as arranged is for the W. P. A. to assist and manage the laying of some thirteen miles of asphalt street paving, assisting and supplementing the private subscriptions of property owners fronting the streets.

Capt. Speece is busy organizing his force of helpers and expects to begin laying paving within a few days—probably beginning on Center Street at the F. A. Heyen corner in the south part of town and coming north to intersect the present terminus of the paving.

The first car of asphalt arrived here yesterday morning.

PLANS COMPLETE FOR HALLOWEEN CARNIVAL.

Come one! Come all! And remember—The date—Saturday, October 30. The time—6:00 o'clock P. M. Place—High School grounds. Features—Eats, parade, fun and frolic.

Everybody come out, eat your supper and enjoy a jolly evening. Five cents admission to the grounds will be charged and the holder of the lucky ticket will receive the Grand Carnival Prize. Entrance to the grounds will be on the west side of the school building. Don't fail to enter—hold your ticket.

The fun really begins with the parade. Those taking part will be dressed in Halloween costumes. Two prizes will be given, $1.00 for the prettiest costume and 50c for the funniest costume. Miss Eddie Connor will be in charge and Miss Billie Merritt and the Pep Squad will lead the parade, forming at the northeast corner of the school grounds. Three competent judges will be stationed along the way to pick the winners.

Plenty of eats, with a big capital E, so bring along your appetites and dine with the Spooks and Goblins. There will be time to eat your supper between the parade and the program or after the program, as you wish. And more good news for you—supper will be served at tables where you can eat in comfort, chat with your friends and watch the spooks drift by.

A loud speaker will be installed on the grounds and all features of the program will be announced for their running schedule which will be as follows:

Parade—6:30-6:45.
Supper—6:45-7:15.
Gay Halloween play (at football field; seats for all)—7:15-7:45.
Pet show—7:45-8:00.
Carnival Row—8:00-8:45.

There will be three fortune-telling booths stationed on the grounds operated by experienced fortune tellers. Don't fail to have your future forecast and see the bright side of life. Forget the past—skip the present—live for the "Future"!

Don't fail to see and enjoy every feature of the Carnival show. A good time is promised all.

The festival is being sponsored by the Hondo Parent-Teacher Association.

DIED.

Raymond Fohn, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Fohn, and known to his friends and acquaintances as Buddy Fohn, died Tuesday, October 26, 1937, after an illness of some ten days. He was buried at Yancey on the following day, Rev. J. E. Fuller, pastor of the Yancey Methodist church officiating. The pallbearers were Harold Faser, Leroy Faser, John Henry Muennink, Bailey Crain, Clarence Fohn and Edward Fohn.

Buddy was born May 4, 1921, in Medina County and was thus in the seventeenth year of his age. He had the misfortune to be shot in the head about two years ago with a small calibre bullet which could never be removed and is supposed to be the cause of his death.

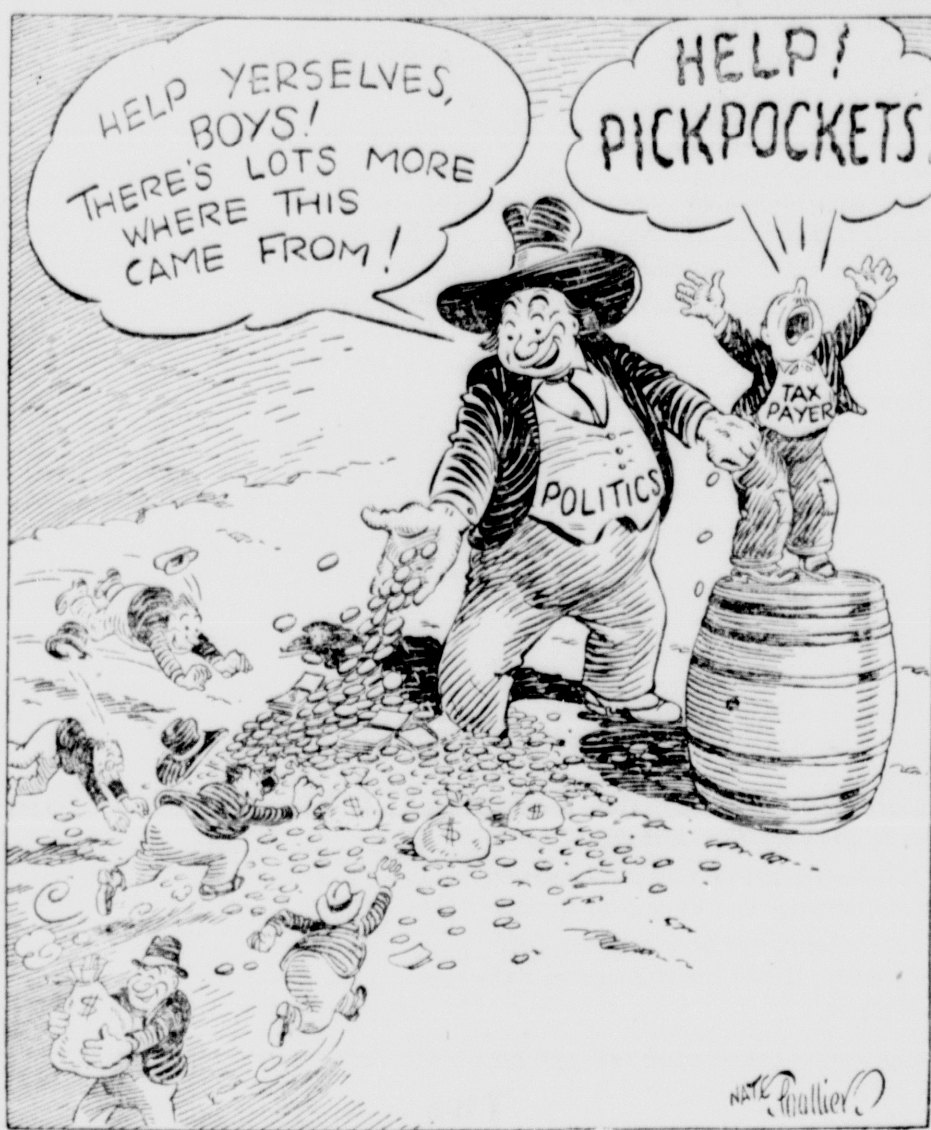

Besides his parents he is survived by two sisters and other relatives. The Anvil Herald joins in sympathy for those who mourn.

THE MODERN "LIBERAL"

TO INCORPORATE OR NOT TO INCORPORATE.

The Chamber of Commerce of Hondo passed a resolution at its last meeting endorsing and putting in motion an election for the purpose of deciding whether Hondo shall be incorporated or remain status quo.

Every one realizes that incorporation will have its advantages and disadvantages. Those opposed to incorporation primarily justify their stand on the grounds of its meaning more taxes to be paid by the property owners within the proposed city limits. But with this small additional tax to be paid the citizens would be well compensated in returns through corporate control of matters that are now problems and uncontrollable.

Let's see what matters Hondo, as an incorporated city, could regulate to the comfort, financial gain and pride of its citizens. Some of these are as follows: An improved water system; the possibility of a sanitary sewerage system; regulation of traffic and parking; improved fire protection and the lowering of fire insurance; city controlled policing; a just distribution of expenses for lighting and night-protection; aid financially to the local merchants by regulating or prohibiting street peddlers from operating on our streets; regulate all-night drinking houses; and the possibility of controlling and operating its own public utilities, which in turn may in time do away with the necessity of paying taxes needed to operate our city.

Under incorporation our city would be run by a mayor and two city commissioners elected by the citizens of Hondo. Through the ballot the citizens of Hondo could control the policy of the management of our city and make of it a place to our own liking and a place of which we could be proud.

"TOAST OF NEW YORK" TO SHOW HERE.

The WEEKLY CONSTITUTIONAL

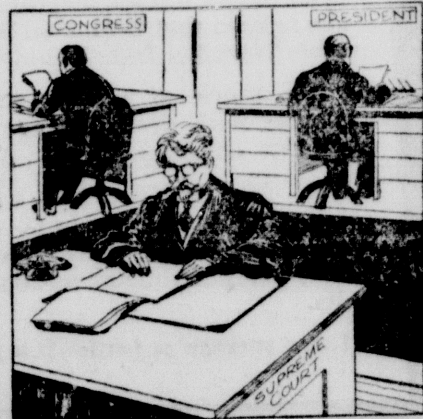

by MAX BERNIS

The Power of the People

Why does our Constitution make the people the supreme authority and what protection does it provide so that "we the people" may keep our supremacy?

"I know no safe depository of the ultimate powers of society but the PEOPLE themselves," said Thomas Jefferson long after completing his term as president. "My personal interest in such questions is entirely extinct, but not my wishes for the longest possible continuance of our government on its pure principles."

"If the three powers, Congress, the President and the Supreme Court, as provided in Articles I, II and III of our Constitution maintain their mutual independence of each other, it may last long, but not so if either can assume the authorities of the other."

QUIHI NOTES.

And the Lord appeared unto him (Isaac), and said, Go not down into Egypt. Gen. 26:2.

A serious famine has put Isaac on the move. He casts about for better quarters. It was a trying time not only for his pocketbook and general convenience, but for his stand with God. God seems to fail him, forgetting those promises given to his father Abraham, promises of material wealth and independence and more. Tests are needful now and then, lest we slither into a false security and become overbearing, unbearable, and slip away from higher standards and aims. The best trees need pruning, the best gardens, weeding. Isaac, as most of us mortals, is no friend of tribulations and trials, in spite of the wholesome fruit attached to them. They are irksome, disquieting, depressive, all around. Easy street in all its forms and shapes is preferable. God's promises sink below the horizon at such periods. He resorts to self-help, taking matters into his own hand, trying to correct, as we often take it, the questionable management of his God. He resorted to emigration into a strange land, into doubtful territory and company. His first lap takes him into the land of the Philistines, the chronic enemies of Israel. Egypt is his goal, the granary of the world at that time, the seat of industry, science, agricultural pursuits, standing at the helm of a wide-awake civilization. To that star he is trying to hitch his wagon. God advises to the contrary, crossing, as we ever so often construe it, his plans to the core. It's the age-old story. Paradise is always somewhere beyond our boundary lines. Material progress, so the story goes, will do away with all the darkness of a situation in a short time. Our own makeshifts, we still think, will straighten out matters speedily, as we thought, once upon a time, that electric light would do away with the burglar and cut-throat, that our heavy artillery would prevent wars, that telephone and ocean cables would rectify international misunderstanding and misinterpretation, that shorthand and typewriters would produce literary geniuses, that divorce mills would oust matrimonial troubles and incompatibilities, that enormous expenditures would stop all waste leaks, that a well balanced budget would correct all economic evils. Man, obviously, is more than a ruminating biped. He does not live of bread alone. Man's calling goes beyond the mere eking out of a measly subsistence and livelihood. The Lord takes Isaac to task on this simple, everlasting truth.

We are sorry to report the very grave condition of Mrs. Jac. Breiten at the Medina Hospital. May the Lord speak to her soul to ease her in those trying and painful hours.

Roy Nietenhoefer and Lewis Boehle likewise have been under medical care, the former undergoing a minor operation. The Lord speaks in various language even in young days. "Draw me nearer, blessed Lord," seems to be the text.

The parsonage harbored a number of guests these last days and weeks. Among them Mr. and Mrs. Paul Weaver of Chicago, Mr. H. A. Knebel and family, and Mr. R. Romberg, of Seguin. It goes without saying that we were glad to have them with us.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Boehle have received a new addition to their family in the form of a little daughter, and congratulations are in order.

Mr. and Mrs. Hy. Bohlen have decided to make their future abode in the state of Arizona, leaving early this week with their newly married children, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Hardt. A little farewell gathering on the eve of their departure was had at their place, bringing in a number of near relatives to assemble around the word of God and prayer and wishing them godspeed for the journey and their new home. Many will miss them. So do we.

Announcements for October the 31st, our Reformation Day: German service at 10:30; confessional at 10:15; Lord's Supper in German, Sunday school at 9:30; English service at 7 P. M., preceded by the confessional, Lord's Supper administered in English. Please announce yourself. You need the message of the day for your heart and home. Come and get it.

LAUGH ROMP IN STORE.

A laugh romp is in store for Colonial Theatre patrons Monday and Tuesday night when Jack Oakie and Ann Sothern appear in "Super Sleuth". RKO Radio farcical murder mystery. The story opens with Oakie, a screen sleuth, the recipient of poison-pen letters. He attempts to track the author down without the aid of police, whom he has offended by his critical remarks concerning their efficiency, but only succeeds in getting himself trapped and almost shot. Miss Sothern rescues him and he retaliates by marrying her.

"Young men and women enter into citizenship in this country as easily as they pass through an open door."

Should we not hold some public event each year in every community and initiate those who come of age into the holy orders of citizenship—anoint them with the oil of patriotism?

I saw some young men the other day around a flag pole—OLD GLORY, neatly folded, was passed from one to the other. While each caressed it I saw the eyes of their elders went wet.

The "stars and stripes" isn't just something with which to wave at parades or to decorate public rostrums—the flag is sacred. It was bought by the price of blood of our fighting forefathers.

LET'S MAKE NO MISTAKE.

Let's make no mistake in this incorporation business.

It is difficult to evaluate the attitude of the mass of the people of Hondo towards the movement.

It is admitted by all that no matter on how cheap a scale a city government is attempted to be run, it will cost some money.

Any municipal government that needs money must levy taxes.

The power to levy a tax carries with it automatically the power to affix a tax lien on all assessable property within the corporate limits of the municipality.

This gives the administrative agency in charge of the municipal government the power to coerce the payment of the amount of taxes assessed.

This coercive force extends we are told, to the power to sell the roof from over your head to satisfy the tax claim in event of your default in payment, no matter what the reason for that default.

Certain unfortunates in some of our neighboring towns—allegedly more progressive than Hondo—are getting a taste of this right now.

Furthermore, the power to levy a municipal tax carries with it the power to pledge the credit of that municipality to borrow money within certain limitations the security for which is the tax-raising equity the municipality holds in the property within its corporate limits.

If and when Hondo incorporates she will have to be the beneficiary of some one's charity or else go into debt before she can issue a receipt to her first tax-payer.

Yet when it was publicly announced for thirty days that the Dinner Club of the Chamber of Commerce—a Dutch-lunch affair where any one with the price of his own meal can attend—would launch a campaign for incorporation, a bare twenty-five out of the several hundred tax-payers of the town—many of whom have not only their life's savings but their very lives permanently invested here—were present to participate in a movement affecting so vitally both their manner of community life and the legal status of their property.

Was it confidence in the minority? Indifference to what that minority might do? Or a set assumption that no matter what that minority did—good, bad or indifferent—affecting the community welfare, it would be abortive?

No matter which answer is given in the finality, indifference is always dangerous—never conducive to the greatest good.

And a more pronounced example of indifference would be hard to conceive of than this occasion afforded—with the vast mass remaining aloof while the man who moved the adoption of the motion, the man who seconded it and the presiding officer who put the motion definitely launching the campaign are none of them free-holders in Hondo; one has never voted in Hondo and two of them are here only for so long as a more inviting position elsewhere beckons them to seek new fields of endeavor.

Presuming that the inarticulate mass is willing to admit by its silence that what the seventeen affirmative voters speaking as the voice of the Chamber of Commerce do is without flaw and wholly acceptable, there is another point deserving of consideration.

The power to levy and collect taxes carries with it the power and au-

OWLETS

PUBLIC SCHOOL NEWS ITEMS FROM THE OWL.

COTULLA COWBOYS ARE NEXT OWL OPPONENTS.

The Hondo Owls, going strong after their 21 to 0 win over Devine last week, are ready to attack the Cotulla Cowboys, pre-season favorites in this half of the district, in their second district game, Friday night at Cotulla.

The two teams will be fairly evenly matched, on the offense Cotulla having scored 79 points and Hondo 77, and on the defense both teams having but 13 points scored against them. The Cowboys have won five games and lost one, losing to Devine 6-0, and the Owls have also won five games and lost one, this one to Uvalde 6-0.

By comparison the teams are therefore rated even. However, as Cotulla defeated Cotulla and Hondo defeated Devine, there is a slight edge for the Owls on paper. The game is won on the field, though.

Probable starting Line-up:

COWBOYS

Last Period Scoring Spree Accounts For 21-0 Score.

Featuring fine defensive line play, the Hondo Owls held the Devine Warriors to two first downs, one penalty, and punched over three touchdowns in the last quarter.

The Owls made two drives in the first half but were never able to punch over to pay dirt until their 21 point rush.

Jack Fitzpatrick was the "ball-carrier" back on the field for the Owls.

The first quarter saw the Owls, after exchange of punts, drive to the Warriors eleven yard line from which point Bader attempted a field goal.

The second quarter saw Devine make their only first downs of the game. These both came in a march from their 17 yard line to their 46 yard marker. This, incidentally, is as far as the Owls' opponents were able to advance the ball.

Another Owl drive that ended on the fourteen yard Devine line was marked by a second futile attempt at a field goal. As the period was almost ended a Devine punt went straight up and bounded back to their five yard line where it was covered by Devine and punted out to their 24.

In the fourth quarter, a pass from the wing of Joel Abbot to Elmer Joe Schuehle netted 20 yards and Fitzpatrick went over on the third attempt. At this point of the game the Warriors were determined to score, and on the first play after the kick-off Windrow intercepted a pass on their 30.

Four plays later Fitzpatrick carried over from the nine yard line with several men clinging to his burning legs.

Devine yielded to the steady bounding of their line by the hard driving Hondo charges in the last part of the fourth period. Sixty yards were gained in seven plays, mostly through the middle of the line. For the third touchdown, Abbot scampered across from the nine. Fred Bader knee-kicked each extra point.

District 41—Junction and Rock-springs.

District 42—Edison, Sidney Lanier and Alamo Heights, all of San Antonio.

District 44—Beeville, Yorktown, Cuero and Victoria.

Homemaking Teachers Meet

Miss Howard attended a conference for Homemaking teachers in the Southwestern Section of District IV, that extends from Del Rio to Georgetown. The teachers met with the District Supervisor, Miss Gladys Short, in the Plaza Hotel in San Antonio last Friday.

Approximately thirty teachers were present. A round table discussion was held for the purpose of discussing problems of teaching homemaking. Special emphasis was placed on how the homemaking teacher must know her community before the course can be of any practical value to the girls. They discussed, also, how it should tie up with the girls' home life.

Several interesting reports were given on work being done among the negroes. The reports showed the advance of homemaking education among the negroes.

Seniors To Present "Carnival Row"

Attention! Everybody! The Seniors, after a lot of compromising with a big C, have gathered together the world's six most featured group of entertainers. They are, namely: Sally Rand, to test your shock absorbers; the Quints, to test your heart; the Wild Woman of Borneo, to ruin your permanent; a bareback rider, to scare you out of a good night's sleep; the hula-hula dancers, to wreck your home; and last but not least, Mr. and Mrs. Dionne.

All these celebrities will be met at the airport in San Antonio by a committee of Seniors Saturday afternoon. They will be presented to you in the Carnival Row at 8:00 o'clock next Saturday night at the Hallowe'en Carnival.

LOCAL BOYS SEE RICE DOWN TEXAS.

The Hondo football team made a trip to Austin last Saturday to see the football game between the Texas Longhorns and the Rice Owls, which the Owls won 14 to 7. In addition to seeing two former Hondo stars, Jake Schuehle and Floyd Mechler, play, the boys saw plenty of good football and a large colorful crowd.

The Rice Owls scored a touchdown just as the gun shot ending the first half to tie the score at seven all, and then with a good passing attack in the fourth period, started a drive that resulted in the winning score.

Schuehle and Mechler both played a good game, doing mostly defensive and blocking work. The local boys saw a little man "go to town," as "Scat" Sullivan, a 150-pounder, was the main stay of the Rice backfield.

Several stock shows were attended by the boys, as well as the convention meetings. Over ten thousand boys attended the convention which lasted a week.

The boys were privileged to see the Texas Christian-A. and M. football game in Dallas Saturday before last, while enroute to the convention.

SIXTH GRADE MAKES POSTERS.

Our Social Studies Class made posters last week showing ways in which Austin induced the colonies to come to Texas. We are now making Empresario maps.

We are all excited about the Hallowe'en Carnival. Bring your nickels and let the Sixth Grade show you how America was discovered.

Margaret Woods went to San Antonio Saturday.

Marcellus Garrison went to Bandera Sunday.

Stanley Hollmig, Bobby Van Fleet and Walter Speece saw the football game in Devine Friday night.

Betty Gean Hall went to Macdona Friday evening and stayed over the week-end.

High School Grounds Will Be The Scene of Festivities

The Hallowe'en Carnival will take place on the school grounds near the west side entrance next Saturday, October 30. The Carnival, sponsored by the P-T. A., will have a general admission price of five cents, which entitles everyone to a chance on a grand prize to be drawn for in the later part of the evening. A parade at 6:30 P. M., composed of grammar grade children in costume and with the Pep Squad in full uniform leading the parade, will open the Carnival. There will be a prize given to the wearer of the prettiest costume and the funniest one.

One dollar will be the prize for the wearer of the prettiest costume and fifty cents will be awarded the wearer of the funniest costume. Everyone is invited to come in costume to the Carnival.

At the finish of the parade thirty minutes will be set aside for everyone to buy their supper and eat it on the grounds. Tables will be near all the stands where food can be bought.

The second part of the entertainment will begin at 7:15 with a show in front of the bleachers. There will be two plays or skits given and the admission will be ten cents. At 7:45 until 8:15 a Pet Show will be conducted on the grounds. There will be all sorts of wild animals to take you back to the African wilds. Admission will be five cents.

From 8:00 until 8:45 a Carnival Row will be conducted by the Seniors. There will be six booths containing Sally Rand, the Wild Woman from Borneo, the Quints and their parents, the Hula Hula Girls and the Bareback Rider. Don't miss this special feature as you will receive the surprise of your life when you enter these booths. Admission will be five cents.

During the entire evening there will be games of chance to play and excellent food may be bought throughout the evening. Another surprise will be the Fortune Telling booths. The Fortune Tellers are the best there are and anyone who has his fortune told will be agreeably pleased and maybe surprised.

There is assured a delightful and refreshing evening of entertainment.

FIRST GRADE TALKS.

We are so very busy this week that we hardly have time to write the news. We are planning and working to have a pet show Saturday night. All of us are on committees. We have made some posters and will make more.

There will be ribbons for the largest pet, the smallest pet, the prettiest pet and the most useful pet.

We have invited the second, third and fourth grades to enter their pets. Everyone must be responsible for his own pet after the show is over.

The show will be from 7 to 7:45 o'clock. Every one be sure to be there to see the fine pets.

About 30 boys from the grammar grades have started coming out every afternoon and learning a few of the fundamentals of football. The future team will be made up of these boys, and, according to Coach Henslee, the boys show promise of being a scrappy team.

ST. PAUL'S LUTHERAN CHURCH.

"A mighty fortress is our God,
A trusty shield and weapon;
He helps us free from every need
That has us now o'ertaken.
The old evil foe
Now means deadly woe;
Deep guile and great might
Are his dread arms in fight;
On earth is not his equal."

—Dr. Martin Luther.
This is the first stanza to the most popular, at any rate the most widely translated hymn, for it is sung in 183 languages. It is termed the "battle hymn of the Reformation" and was composed by Dr. Martin Luther on basis of Psalm 46, "God is our refuge and strength," Sung in our churches with spirit and enthusiasm it has been part of every Reformation service, a hymn of strength and faith. There is no hymn so widely sung, no hymn used by so many different races. May it continue to be our inspiration in the battle against evil and on God's side.

"With might of ours can naught be done,
Soon were our loss effected;
But for us fights the Valiant One,
Whom God Himself elected.

Ask ye, Who this is?
Jesus Christ it is,
The Lord Sabaoth,
And there's none other God,
He holds the field forever.

Next Sunday, October 31, marks the 420th anniversary of the Reformation. Service will be conducted beginning at 10:00 A. M. in the English language. Holy Communion will be administered. Announce

HAASS-EHLINGER.

A wedding of interest to a wide circle of relatives and friends in Medina County was that of Miss Annie Marie Ehlinger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willie Ehlinger of Devine, and Mr. Louis Haass, son of Mrs. Emma Haass of Biry, which took place at 8:30 o'clock Tuesday morning, October 26, 1937, in St. Joseph's Catholic Church of Devine. The bride's cousin, Rev. Paul Ehlinger, officiated at the ring ceremony and the nuptial mass.

The bridal party entered the church to the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march played on the organ by the bride's mother, Mrs. Willie Ehlinger. The bridesmaids, Miss Catherine Polber of Del Rio and Miss Marie Ehlinger, cousins of the bride, were dressed in green and in wine-colored costumes of erect pile velvet, with black accessories, and carried colonial bouquets of vari-colored carnations. Miss Hazel Haass, sister of the groom and maid of honor, wore blue velvet, and the matron of honor, Mrs. Francis Carle of Hondo, aunt of the bride, was in rust velvet. Their accessories were also black and their flowers colonial bouquets of carnations.

The flower girl, Alda Rose Ehlinger, in gold velvet, and the ring-bearer, Master Marvin Ehlinger, sister and brother of the bride, were followed by the bride who entered with her father. Miss Ehlinger was attractive in a bridal gown of white velvet, and a veil of bridal illusion extending from a lace cap. Her flowers were large feathery white mums. At the altar she was met by the groom and his best man, Bill Ehlinger, Jr., of Kingsville. Groomsmen were Alex Ehlinger and August Haass of San Antonio.

A solo, "Ave Maria", was sung by the bride's aunt, Mrs. Gene Bohl, during the mass. After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents.

After a short honeymoon, Mr. and Mrs. Haass will be at home to their many friends at the home of the groom's mother at Biry.

Mr. F. M. Davis of Paris writes of attending a state convention of the Society of American Civil Engineers held at Tyler, Texas, last week, and of enjoying what almost amounted to a home-town reunion when among the other guests at a dinner party were Mr. Ralph Windrow of Fort Worth and Mr. Em-met de Montel of Tyler.

Seen at the Texas University-Rice Institute football game in Austin Saturday were Mr. and Mrs.
J. G. Barry, Homer Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Mechler, Mr. O. H. Mil-

and several members of the Hondo football team. Mrs. T. B. Knopp, Miss Evelyn Knopp, and Miss Frances Mechler from the Sauz.

Postmaster Lawrence Brucks returned Friday night from attending a postmasters' convention in Washington, being chairman of transportation for the Texas delegation. After the conclusion of the convention,
Mr. Brucks visited New York and Chicago before returning home. At Chicago he was the guest of his two older brothers, Louis and Charles, who have been residents of that city
for several years.

Sheriff and Mrs. C. J. Schuehle,
Mr. and Mrs. Earl Starnes, Mr. and Mrs. John Zinsmeyer, Mrs. Nora Bendele, Mr. George Schuehle, and Mr. and Mrs. Otis Schuehle, the latter of Corpus Christi, composed a party to Austin Saturday for the Rice Institute-Texas University football game. On Saturday morning they drove over to Taylor, where the Rice Owls were quartered, and visited with Jake Schuehle and Floyd Mechler, two Hondo boys with the Owls.

Three tables of contract players were entertained Tuesday afternoon by Mrs. O. B. Taylor at her home.
The rooms had decorative touches of bright-colored autumn leaves. High score prize was won by Mrs. Roy Ffeil. The other guests present were Mesdames J. M. Finger, Volney Boon, L. J. Brucks, H. J. Meyer, F.
H. Schweers, Alfred Schweers, Ed.
Cameron, Robert Kollman and Louis Grube. The hostess served a salad course consisting of chicken salad, candied stuffed apples, potato chips,
saltnuts and an orange drink.

"My meat stored in cottonseed oil in March 1937 is just as good as when I put it in the oil", says Mrs.
Charles Frobose of DeWitt county.
Mrs. Frobose stored only ham and bacon in the oil. This was done by first curing the meat, then slicing and packing it into stone crocks, and covering with refined cottonseed oil.
By packing the slices very firmly,
Mrs. Frobose was able to pack 600 pounds of meat with two gallons of oil. The crocks were then covered with white cloth and heavy brown paper and weighted. Mrs. Frobose advised leaving the meat in larger chunks rather than slices because the oil does not penetrate through them so readily.

PROTECTED RANGE STILL MAKES "A LITTLE"
PROFIT.

Recently a United States Department of Agriculture man examined ranges in Kansas. Reporting on trip, he said, "I saw more drove ridden range than I ever thought listed. I saw so much of it that I gan to doubt that a conservative grazed range will survive drove. And then in the center of a bad drought area, I found a range which forage conditions were at 50 percent better than elsewhere talked to the owner, a German grant who spoke rather broken Enlish. He told me he had been 37 1-2 acres per cow per year his neighbors had been using to 12 acres per cow. On his the forage was in pretty good tion. Good grasses were not as I could tell, being replaced by ferior plants as was the situation the surrounding range.

"I asked this man how he had ited financially by grazing so servatively. His answer was, ven times were good, my neighbors got bad my neighbors even. I make a little. Now neighbors all broke. Still I little."

NEW FOUNTAIN W. M. S.

The New Fountain Missionary Society held its regular meeting in the home of Mrs. Fritz Stiegler, Oct. 20. There were eleven members and three guests present.

The meeting was opened by the leader, Mrs. Paine, who read "Illiteracy in Asia". In 1891 only four women out of a thousand were literate in India and one out of a thousand in China. The awakening has begun, colleges for women have been established, chiefly by Missions, offering women equal education with men. Women have begun the greatest social changes in history. No one predicts its consequences. One-half of society, the more powerful half, the half which controls the future, is at last claiming its rights, those rights which are essential to it if it is to fulfill its duties. Leader also read the song, "God of the Strong".

Business session followed. Mrs. Robt. Riff, president, presiding. It was decided to have an all-day Retreat the first Wednesday of November.

The nominating committee was appointed and meeting then turned to a study period. The following topics were discussed: "Changes in the Rank of Women in America", by Miss Minnie Wiemers; "Church Status at Home", by Mrs. Clarence Schweers; "Releasing Women Around the World", Mrs. Paine; "Women's Progress in China", Mrs. Fritz Stiegler; Scripture, Matthew 5:11-12, was read by the leader; "Progress Through Conflict", Mrs. Fritz Bohmfalk; "The Christian Life" and "The New Day" were presented by three speakers, Mrs. A. B. Erucks, Mrs. Theo Wiemers and Mrs. Robt. Riff. Meeting adjourned until next regular meeting date.

EDITOR ADDRESSES H. D. AND 4-H CLUB REPORTERS.

"Fresh news is good news to a newspaper editor," Mr. Fletcher Davis, Managing Editor of the Hondo Anvil Herald, told reporters of the various Home Demonstration and 4-H Girls' Club of Medina County who met in the County Home Demonstration Agent's office on Saturday morning, October 23.

Mr. Davis stressed the fact that news reports should be sent in the day of the meeting. If this is done, the reports stand a much better chance of being printed, he said. Mr. Davis gave the reporters a number of pointers to use in writing their reports.

Miss Nell Foley, County Home Demonstration Agent, spoke to the group on applying a measuring rod to their reports. A good report, she stated, will answer this question—"Does this report carry a piece of information given at the meeting which will be useful to someone who was not present?" Miss Foley urged that each club reporter use this measuring rod when writing their reports.

The meeting adjourned to meet on December 4th, at which time a Reporter's Association will be formed.

1938 CHEVROLET PRICE ANNOUNCEMENT.

New York, Oct. 23.—Simultaneously with the announcement of its new 1938 passenger cars, now being displayed in 9,600 dealer showrooms throughout the United States, Chevrolet today made public its new prices. They represent an increase ranging from 3.4 per cent to 5 per cent, or in dollars, of $26 to $34 per model.

The popular sedan in the Master Deluxe series shows an increase of $26, from $770 to $796. The increase in the case of seven models is less than $30, and in the case of the other five is between $30 and $34, the latter figure applying to the Master Sport Sedan.

These new prices now include the S. A. E. group of accessories such as front and rear bumpers, spare tire and tube, radiator ornament, and in addition, on the DeLuxe models, the right hand tail lamp, all of which were not heretofore included in the total price listed but were sold at an extra charge to the buyer.

The increase bears out the statement made by M. E. Coyle, General Manager of the Chevrolet Division of General Motors, before the company's National Sales Convention last month. Addressing the field wholesale organization, Mr. Coyle asserted that the forthcoming new models would be introduced at an increase in price due to the steady advance in manufacturing costs.

Following are the new prices: Master Series: Sedan, $730; Coach, $668; Coupe, $648; Cabriolet, $755; Town Sedan, $689; Sport Sedan, $750.

Master Deluxe Series: Sedan, $796; Coach, $730; Coupe, $714; Sport Coupe, $750; Town Sedan, $750; Sport Sedan, $817.

The prices quoted are the delivered prices at Flint, Mich., exclusive of state and local taxes.

Hogs receipts, 1,500 head, including 450 on through billing. The market was active and about steady with last week's close. A top of $9.25 was paid by all interest for the bulk of good to choice 180 to 250 pound butchers. Best 150 to 180 pound offerings, $8.75 to $9.25; 140 to 160 pounds, $8.00 to $8.75, and 250 to 300 pounds, $8.75 to $9.25. Packing sows, $7.75 and down. Stocker pigs around $7.00, few to $7.50, with some unsold at close. Undertone of market weak at the close.

Cattle, receipts, 900 head; calves, 2,100 head. Trading was very uneven on the liberal supply. Early sales of most classes were steady to weak with price levels tending lower on later rounds on most all offerings on a dull market, although some early sales of cows were stronger than last week's dull close. Bulls were drab.

Steers were scarce. Most plain grass yearlings cashed around $5.50 and down with a rail load of 510-lb. medium grass yearlings at $7.50. Medium grass calves sold mostly from $5.25 to $5.75 with most good fat calves at $6.00 and $6.50, few to $6.75 and $6.85. Plain calves ranged down to $4.00 with culls to $3.50. The bulk of butcher cows ranged from $3.75 to $4.50, including a rail load at $4.50, odd head of fat cows to $4.75, few above. Low cutter and cutter cows sold mostly at $2.50 to $3.50. Bulls were mostly medium kinds at $4.00 to $4.75, with thin light weights down to $3.50. Early sales of stocker calves and yearlings mostly $5.00 to $6.00. Two loads stocker yearlings unsold late, held above $6.00.

Sheep, receipts 100; goats, none. Market slow. Shorn matured wethers $3.35 and $3.60. Some unsold late.

RAIN.

The rush of rain upon the roof
Is sent by God to soothe our cares;
Its steady drip weaves in the woof
Of muffled footfalls, murmured prayers;
And its monotonous croon brings proof
That Sleep takes Suffering unawares.
—Bess Bartlett, Marlin, Texas.

ONLY TODAY.

Only today
She passed this way—
I wanted to call her
But I could not!
She had forgot,
I saw her face
Within the space
And square of my door's
Immediate frame.
The sound of her name
Rose in my throat,
Departed, remote
Like any silence,
And she had gone.
—Bergman Vinci, Sweetwater,
Texas.

SHOCK.

Just now, there was the silent shriek
That just precedes a death;
And now, the shrieking silence
That takes the place of death.
—Hope Bussey, Panhandle Texas.

THE RUSTLER.

The West Wind is a rustler.
He dashes across the parched plain Twirling a dust lasso—
Shouting a gruff basso—
As he rounds up the clouds and drives off the rain.
—Vada Hart Webb, Abilene, Texas.

POET'S PRIVILEGE.

I can write away the grief
That other hearts would curse.
If moonlight brings me memories
I write them in a verse.
—Princess Martin, Lorraine, Texas.

By Stewart Edward White

Davenport's heart leaped at the last words, but she was leaning forward again, eavesdropping with all her might.

"If I can get one good working model I don't care whether another of the things is made for ten years, let alone five," stated Grimstead. "My Lord, man! Think of the shake-down! This is going to put every hydroelectric company, every public utility outfit out of business! Not to speak of all the oil and coal and such things. The securities of those companies won't be worth a red cent. The market, man! Think of the market! There are a hundred dollars to be had there for every dollar out of the mere sale of those things! Why, you and I will have the world by the tail!"

"You're right," Gardiner replied slowly, "with capital—" "Which I supply. I'll smash Corbuser first of all, blast his hide; and I'll twist the necks of that Northwest Electric bunch; and I'll have them in packs begging at my office door. They'll see the point, don't worry; and those of them who don't will go to the poorhouse. They'll be crying to get aboard; and you and I will sit there and decide the terms. We can buy their stocks and bonds for a song."

"And resell at the market," caught up Gardiner, "but that means secrecy as to this battery."

"That's one place where you come in. You ought to be able to handle the publicity."

"I can if there aren't too many of the confounded things attracting attention—"

"I'll see to that. There won't be any of them. The contract says manufacture must start in six months; it doesn't say anything about marketing."

"There are bound to be leaks."

"A thousand of them. But who would pay any attention to the mere rumors of another perpetual motion machine? That part's your job."

A short pause ensued while the two men evidently envisaged the opportunity.

"Why, chief?" cried Gardiner at length, his voice vibrant with excitement. "It's tremendous! It's half the money in the world! It's all the power! You will rule the globe!"

"Just about that. Give me five years and I'll be the richest man in the world; that much is certain. But what is more I'll have the old crowd down and out or taking my orders. There'll be the biggest smash in his tory, and you and I, Ross, my boy, will push the button and take our pick of the prices. Then when we've got the whole situation in our hands we can decide just how far we'll go with this battery proposition. One thing certain; we'll be in a position to do just as much or just as little with it as we choose." Grimstead chuckled.

"But I'm certainly going to make a good start by busting Corbuser so high he never will come down!" "This man Davenport, isn't he likely to upset the apple cart?" inquired Gardiner.

"That's part of my job," answered Grimstead. "I'll guarantee to handle that young man." There were sounds of his rising. "So you better string with me, Ross, and take orders, and not ask too many questions."

"I intend to!" cried Gardiner fervently. They moved off down stream, and were almost immediately lost to sight around the lower bend.

CHAPTER X

Burton was aflame with indignation, and was bursting out with comments suitable to the occasion; but Davenport silenced her with a gesture.

"Please," he begged, "let me think." He was very grave.

"This is rather terrible," he said at length.

"It is atrocious!" she cried. "It is treacherous! That they should treat you so!"

"Me? Oh, I don't matter. But his ideas are all destructive. He sees a chance to tear down and to build up his own personal power from the debris. That had not even occurred to me! I saw only the releasing of pressure—"

"To think that my father—" "Yes, there is that; I had forgotten that for a moment. It is very difficult. I am afraid I have made a mistake. I see that now. It was foolish of me to have jumped into an alliance with out giving more thought to it, with out considering— But it seemed to fall so pat, our all being here together and Mr. Grimstead one of the biggest men in just that line— It was an impulse, and I followed it."

"Why shouldn't you?" she cried. "Who wouldn't? Who would have believed that anyone would do such a thing?"

"Well, it's done. The question is, what to do next?"

"Fight, of course!" she answered promptly. "I should think you'd be just boiling!"

"I'm sad, and a little frightened," he confessed. "It is like holding a typhoon in my hand."

"You aren't going to lie down and let them do this?"

"No; that must not be."

"What are you going to do, then?" "I don't know."

He arose without further words offered her his hand, and the two descended the talus and took their way in silence back to the camp. Grimstead roared at them joyfully as soon as they came in sight.

"Come and look at 'em!" he shouted. Davenport did not answer. He covered the distance between them and stood gravely unsmiling before the older man.

"Mr. Grimstead," said he, "I have come to tell you that I overheard your conversation with Mr. Gardiner at the bend of the stream."

Grimstead's face flushed darkly, and the good humor vanished from it. "Well?" he challenged.

"I cannot be party to the program I heard outlined."

Grimstead considered a minute.

"Sit down," he invited. "Have a cigar. There's plenty of time to talk this thing out so there's no excuse to go off half-cock."

Davenport declined the cigar, but sat on.

HONDO IS READY TO BE SHOWN

Three Rivers, Texas, October 16, 1937.

The Hondo Anvil Herald: Seeing an article in the Anvil Herald copied from the San Antonio Light, I beg to say a few words about the same.

All people are skeptical about anything that is used for finding oil, sulphur, salt domes or other minerals in the earth.

This is right; they should be skeptical. I claim to be truthful. I would not misrepresent anything of this kind intentionally for all the money in the State of Texas.

I am an old man and have lived here in Southwest Texas all my life, and am well known by many good and reliable people.

The process I use for finding oil pools, salt domes, beds of sulphur, also structures that have gold, silver, copper and all mineral, is a mineral process, with the help of true geology. Also science. With this process I can find any pool of oil; then find the fault all the way around the pool. Also can find every gas dome of the pool. All pools of oil have gas domes. The amount of gas domes and their size show you more or less as to the richness of the pool. With this process you can trace out all the oil structures in any one county in 2 or 3 days and you would know the different classes of structure. It shows you the best locations for all your wells in the pool.

With it you can classify the different sands, also the limes, that are in the oil sands and know which was animal, vegetable or sea shell lime.

I expect to come to Hondo to spend a month or more as soon as I can get my business in shape to leave and talk this over with the land owners there and see what can be done. There will be no charges of any kind for anything I can do either from the land man or the oil man.

A large part of Medina County is underlaid with this chain of Balcones fault line structure and it is rich in oil besides the other class of shallow structure that is laid down Northwest and Southeast. There are many places there where there is small outcropping of rock from a deeper level that has both gold and silver, but this would have to be cored to the center and smeltered to know if it was pay.

Very truly,
J. P. MORRIS,

P. O. Box 195,
Three Rivers, Texas.

HOPELESS YOUTH.

Carnage of future battle-fields, And future wards of State, We are the victims of blind greed, Of gluttony, and hate.

We are a disillusioned throng, Nay, worse; we are in truth Not less, not more, but only just A horde of Hopeless youth!

We seem to be in no demand At plow, or desk, or loom; And at the bottom or the top, For us there is no room.

We are a horde of Hopeless Youth, A bunch of bums, let's say; Along the dusty Road of Life We humbly "thumb" our way.

The song has gone from out our hearts, The glint from out our eye; Our Dreams have withered long ago, We sit around and sigh.

We grope for light, we gasp for breath, For inspiration pray; We have the faintest gleam of hope To see a brighter day.

—ELVIN WAGNER,

HEIDT REACHES THE HEIGHTS.

("Radio Guide" award.)

"Medal of Merit" awarded to Horace Heidt.

Whose music entertains you at night. Congratulations—give him a hand, This man who leads an all-around band;

Let us give three rousing cheers For Heidt and his Brigadiers. Nothing could discourage him; He tackled everything with a vim; Fighting on—accident, discouragement

Couldn't stop him for up he went; Years and years of hard work, Never a duty did he shirk; Always willing to lend a hand, Never too busy even if leading his band;

For an airsponsor he's played two years, Giving sweet music to banish our worries and fears. Tough breaks, suffering—say, he wouldn't stop; That's why today he's on top.

—DALE GUHL.

(In Memory)

When shall I gaze into your eyes, And stroke your soft, white fur; When reach that heaven where you wait To greet me with your purr?

From some bright, sunny nook you'll come, Your back hunched up in joy; Your softly gorgeous tail a-plume, In greeting sweet and coy.

You sang your low, glad song of life, And tread your gentle way Into my heart on cushioned feet, To nestle there for aye.

thority to spend it.

If willing to be taxed—no matter how small an amount—good citizenship decrees the manifestation of interest in how and for what those tax-funds are disbursed.

A steering committee of some three or four now has the determining for what and the manner in which those funds will be spent—in other words, what and for what price we are to be sold when we buy incorporation—if and when Hondo incorporates; for as a thing is started in that way it is apt to proceed.

We can scarcely conceive of a graver error than for Hondo, when she does incorporate, instead of doing so for the accomplishment of an outstanding, worthwhile objective, like the farm-wife who, in order to "make her spread herself", put 165 eggs under her turkey hen, we try to make a municipal egg, some of them a bit addled to begin with, out of every man's pet peeve or overweening personal ambition.

Yet no public hearing has, to our knowledge, been offered or sought on this important matter.

There may still be time to determine on a worthwhile objective; or barring that positive progressive step, at least avoid the next worst error of being sold short on what is to be undertaken.

But, as Rudyard Kipling used to remark, "That is another story".

YOU CAN'T GET AWAY WITH EXTREMES.

Stagnation of business, stagnation of building and real estate, stagnation of the stock market, no new enterprise being launched; all this is believed by competent authorities to be the result of the curse of inequitable and excessive taxation.

Commenting on the viciously drastic characteristics of the capital gain and undistributed profits tax, Morris S. Tremaine, controller of the State of New York under President Roosevelt when he was governor, and still serving in that capacity, recently said: "There's only one real virtue and that's moderation. You can't get away with extremes. The Boston Tea Party was not about tea, but about extreme taxation."

And, referring to the recent slump in the stock market, he said: "Its operations are so curtailed that it is not paying its share of the taxes. New York State transfer tax returns from Wall Street for June, July and August fell 27 1/2 per cent from the totals of the same period last year." The stock market is at its lowest level in sixty years, in relation to national income.

Mr. Tremaine feels that this condition is due largely to high Federal taxes. "People won't move their investments," he declared, "because they won't pay the heavy taxes." In the past, a Federal policy of reasonable taxation yielded ten times more revenue than the present "soak the rich" policy.

Thanks to excessive taxation, regulation and political "investigations," it is now virtually impossible for business to function on a normal basis, and the odds against creating new and successful productive enterprises are discouraging. Will it take another Boston Tea Party to correct the tax situation?—Industrial News Review.

Important ones are:

1. Extending the operation of the present Soil Conservation Act to 1942.

2. Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act. This probably affects more farm products, in value, than any other measure that has been passed.

3. Farm Tenant Act.

4. Reduction of interest on Land Bank Loans.

5. Perishable Agricultural Commodities Act.

6. Great Plains Drought Act.

7. Farm Credit Act of 1937.

8. Crop Loans for 1937.

9. Cotton Classification.

10. Extension of Commodity Credit Corporation.

The agricultural production of America is vast and far-reaching. More than 200 different agricultural commodities are produced in this country. The total income from the sale of these commodities is about $9,500,000,000 per year.

We are now endeavoring to work out general farm legislation. It is difficult for this to be done in a way that is fair to all sections.

For instance, the Farm Bureau presented a bill which on its face sounds well, but in reality it would be utterly unfair to our section. Under its terms, the corn growers would receive nearly as much in total payments as would the producers of wheat, cotton, rice and tobacco combined. This hardly seems fair to some of the Representatives from these latter areas.

Contrary to some reports, the President has not endorsed the Farm Bureau bill.

The President and the Director of the Budget have indicated that the most the farmers could hope to have appropriated for a farm program would be about $500,000,000 per year. This would mean if this bill were enacted that farmers could not hope to receive more than half the amount they were promised, or 50c on the $1.00. I agree with most of those who have studied this question that any promise made by the government should be lived up to.

Another provision that would have to be greatly changed in order to be practicable is the provision in the Farm Bureau bill for so-called "control." As a practical matter it is no control at all. It provides an allotment to farmers; then permits the farmers to sell any amount in excess which they produce, but requires the United States District Attorney to file suit in the federal court for approximately $400,000 per acre on cotton, 50c per bushel on wheat, and 40c per bushel on corn as a penalty for the sale of the excess production.

In many parts of the Old South where there is a high percentage of tenancy and about one-half the farmers are colored, and also in certain other sections of the United States where there is a high percentage of tenancy, many feel that these suits could not be collected and that therefore the "control" would break down. If this should happen, it might imperil the present program.

These are just a few objections to that measure.

The Committee on Agriculture is endeavoring to work out a real farmers' bill, taking the best provisions of the Farm Bureau bill and eliminating the objectionable ones. We include an ever-normal granary feature. We also provide for a continuation of the present soil conservation payments with increases, and include surplus control features. Then, too, we have added a number of new features. These include:

1. A reduction in payment to the larger farmers on a graduated scale so as to make larger payments available for the small individual farmers.

2. Provision for research laboratories in each of the major agricultural producing areas.

3. A provision authorizing the Secretary of Agriculture to apply to the Interstate Commerce Commission for reduction in freight rates on farm products.

Head Football Coach

This is the third in a series of nine outstanding diagram plays by nine leading college coaches from Grantland Rice's Cities Service Football Guide.

THE above diagram is a modified tandem formation with an unbalanced line. No. 1 back receives the ball and steps back as if to throw a pass. No. 4 back comes around and makes a fake attempt to execute the old Statue of Liberty play and continues on around to the left. The purpose of this delay is to pull the defensive right tackle across the line of scrimmage where he is blocked out by the No. 3 back. If he charges across the line, which is his usual assignment, this play will result in a substantial gain. The blocking assignments are about the same as in any "slant off tackle" play.

Mrs. Joe Ney and Miss Della Ney visited relatives here Sunday.

The President of the United States has done much for the farmers of America, and the Committee is working out a measure in harmony with his views. It will be truly a farmers' bill.

We devote much of our editorial space to the above in order that our readers may gain a clear insight into the farm legislation of the late session of congress as summarized by Mr. Jones who, by virtue of his position as Chairman of the Committee on Agricultural Legislation, largely directed the course and planned the nature of that legislation. The article is valuable for the further reason that it affords a clear insight into the views of the man who will largely direct the course of agricultural legislation in the immediate future.

With all due respect to Mr. Jones and the responsible position he holds, we confess that even a very casual view of the record is astounding for the selfish paternalism written largely throughout the program and the almost total absence of Democratic principles such as have been the traditional tenets of the party to which Mr. Jones belongs, and especially of that part of it indigenous to the South—the very section Mr. Jones represents.

Where is the relief from excessive government expense and its consequent burden of confiscatory taxation?

Where is the farmer's freedom of access to the markets of the world where he can exchange his products for those of others without artificial, tariff, interference with the natural operation of the law of supply and demand?

Where is relief from the farmer's bondage to the bondholders and the money monopolists?

Surely not in increased loans, however underwritten by a constantly borrowing paternalistic government—the tool of international money manipulators!

Where is relief from price-fixing of the farmer's produce by gambling exchanges and a return to the free

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Koch and Mr. and Mrs. Matt Koch and families spent Sunday in San Antonio where they visited friends.

Judge and Mrs. A. H. Rothe and son, Ferd Louis, Mrs. Alice Reinhart and Mr. Gus Rothe, accompanied by Miss Laurinda Rothe of Jourdan, whom they met in San Antonio, went to Austin Saturday where they attended the Texas University-Rice Institute football game. While in Austin Judge Rothe attended a meeting of the Lettermen of the University at Gregory Gym. The Judge is an alumnus of the law school of the University.

operation of the law of supply and demand?

Where is the Democratic policy of economical transportation? Surely not in an appeal to the Interstate Commerce Commission for reduction in freight rates on farm products while leaving the transportation agencies to go bankrupt under excessive tax burdens and oppressive regulatory measures!

To sum the whole matter up, the effort of congress seems to be to quiet the farmers and make sure of their votes by granting them government subsidies with money borrowed from bondholders without letting the farmers know that they are being asked not only to pay the principal but the interest as well; while, at the same time, the government assumes more and more control over the direction of the farmer's personal affairs and no efforts are made to remove the real causes of the illness which he suffers!

PENALTY OF SUCCESS.

Odd thing about taxes—the better you are as a citizen, the more you are penalized. If a business keeps up its building and properties, maintains a sound financial position, sells honest merchandise and furnishes regular employment, the tax assessor collects handsomely. The business is even taxed on the profits it puts back into the firm to better its service and furnish more employment.

But, if the business is poorly managed; if building and machinery are allowed to go to pieces; if poor service and poor merchandise send the business sliding downhill and throw people out of work, the tax assessment goes down.

The situation is as unjust as it is inevitable. Perhaps someone, someday will figure out a way to reverse matters and still collect enough taxes to maintain governments.—Armour's Monthly Magazine.

Armour's could have added, worse still, that if by industry, frugality and thrift a man's business survives these various onslaughts and leaves a bare pittance for his old age he must continue struggling on for existence until death relieves him of his slavery to the tax-collectors. Should he, however, for any reason waste his substance this same government steps in and takes him over for a pension, like a favored and petted child.

Should he by any chance leave an inheritance for dependent loved ones, the government's inheritance tax, like a greedy ghoul, will rob his dying pillow by grabbing a large portion of that.

What must be the ultimate fate of a people whose government penalizes the virtue of thrift and economy and encourages improvidence and waste?

THE SOLACE OF RAIN.

I sorrowed for the loss
Of cherished pleasures of the past;
I fretted for the fading
Of life's joys which might not last;
I grieved because unkindness
Had been given out to me;
I worried for the payment
Of some future bills to be . . .

Then, suddenly, I heard
The soothing patter of the rain
As it came down upon the roof
And 'gainst the window pane;
And, as I listened, all my cares
Seemed floating far away,
And sleep renewed my strength
To carry on another day.

DOWN INTO THE SEA.

A plane was sailing o'er the sea,
One bright and lovely day;
Then from the north a storm arose
And blew it far away.

The plane sped on before the blast
And trembled in the gale,
Ere long the wings were rent in twain—
Lost was the balance sail.

The plane received a thunder-bolt,
And fell into its grave;
For everything was hurled beneath
The angry ocean wave.

Your Best Friend

Business comes to the man who has established himself and gained a reputation for square dealing. But his business can be doubled and trebled by consistent advertising.

The majority of advertising is done by means of printing, and the man who fails to employ printing in some form to advertise his business is simply letting trade slip through his fingers.

Every line of printing you use in your business speaks of you to your customers and prospects; even your letter-heads and envelopes.

Use good printing, and use it constantly and consistently. It will prove to be your best friend in any business, be it large or small.
